INTRODUCTION

WHAT ARE BRAND GUIDELINES?

Branding is our core identity. It's the collection of colors, slogans and iconography that make the University of Central Florida unique.

Brand guidelines are the boundaries in which you apply that core identity. It's a common set of rules on how we use and apply the UCF brand.

WHY ARE BRAND GUIDELINES IMPORTANT?

UCF's authority and reputation are directly tied to our brand guidelines. Black and gold are more than colors; they are a standard of excellence. An improper or unauthorized use of our logo dilutes that bond of trust, or, worse, can appear like an endorsement of something contrary to our core values.

Brand guidelines are guardrails around the use of the elements that make us UCF. It allows your unit to interpret and tailor UCF's identity within specific boundaries.

HOW THEY'RE APPLIED.

Every email, flyer, social media post and digital sign coming out of your office represents UCF. So it's imperative that it looks and sounds like UCF.

These brand guidelines provide a way to speak to your audiences within established guidelines.

A brand's look (colors, logos) is the front line of the guidelines, but it goes much deeper. We should also be using the same language, tone and voice. Different acronyms or levels of formality signal we are disjointed and siloed.

UCF BRAND GUIDELINES

The UCF brand guidelines are the ultimate arbiter and standard for the Division of Student Success and Well-Being. What they say goes.

The full list of guidelines can be found here, along with templates for items like presentations.

Here's your starting line.

The following content has been reproduced unedited from the official UCF brand guidelines.

LOGOS

- There should be only one Pegasus per communication.
- A Unity Identity Lockup (UIL) is not typically necessary on the web, as most UCF websites include the header bar with the Pegasus and the name of the university.
- Items using The Tab logo, such as official letterhead and business cards, should not use a UIL.

BEST PRACTICES FOR USING OUR TRADEMARKS

Do not alter the trademarks.

We love our trademarks just the way they are. Do not stretch, squish or flip them. Also avoid using them as part of a pattern or adding any decoration to them such as drop shadows or inner glows.

Stick to UCF Colors.

Hot pink might be tempting, but please stick with our brand colors of black and gold.

Avoid using Americana font.

Prior to 2006, our trademarks exclusively used the Americana font. Since then, they've been updated to use Gotham — a bold, clean, san-serif font that aligns with our modern brand. Avoid using Americana font in trademarks and any design project. A limited number of discounted Gotham font licenses are available for purchase by UCF communicators only. Get Gotham here.

Fig. 9 The University Signature

THE PEGASUS

Our logo is the Pegasus. It is our badge and emblem. It creates, promotes and protects the integrity of the UCF message. It should be used to identify UCF on all communication materials.

THE TAB

The Tab is our Primary Identity Mark intended to represent UCF to broad public audiences. It is a bold, modern visual representation of our brand. Its effect is strongest when used independently from other visual elements in a layout. It should not be altered in any way or be combined with other logos.

When using the Tab for external audiences, be sure to include the term, "University of Central Florida," in your text or use the University Signature as a separate graphic element in your layout.

If using the Tab on a black background, use the Tab artwork files that include "_NoBox" in its name.

UNIVERSITY SIGNATURE

The words — "University of Central Florida" — should appear in all external communications to ensure that audiences know what the "UCF" trademark stands for. For consistency, the University Signature is provided as a graphic element that should not be altered.

PRIMARY MARK LOCKUPS

For situations where space is severely restricted, a horizontal UCF mark is provided. Usage examples include sponsorship identification, trade show identification and promotional products.

UNIT IDENTITY LOCKUP

The Unit Identity Lockup (UIL) distinguishes a specific unit of the university. It can be used in place of the Tab when the context of the communication is specific to the unit. The Unit Identity Lockup should not be used in combination with the Tab or with any other Unit Identity Lockup.

The internal version (without the University Signature) is intended for campus audiences or situations where the University of Central Florida context is established. The external version (with the University Signature) is intended for broad public audiences or situations where the University of Central Florida context has not been established.

When determining which UCF academic or administrative unit should be represented as a logo, communicators should determine which entity is the highest appropriate authority for a piece of communication to ensure clarity.

TYPOGRAPHY

Using approved fonts also contributes to brand cohesion and unity. The official fonts for UCF are Gotham and Knockout. If you do not have access to those, Arial and Helvetica are accessible substitutes.

Font: Gotham Bold (may substitute Helvetica Bold if necessary)

Size: Minimum 8 pt. (maximum determined by scale of final layout)

Spacing: Can be aligned centered, left or right depending on layout. (leading should be single spaced, words set in initial caps)

OFFICIAL SEAL

The seal is used at formal, universitywide academic functions.

Use is restricted to the UCF Board of Trustees, Office of the President, Office of the Provost, and Office of the General Counsel.

UCF INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS TRADEMARKS

- Use of UCF Athletics trademarks is restricted to UCF Athletics
- Cannot be used to represent UCF as a university
- Cannot be used to represent an academic or administrative unit
- Cannot be used in conjunction with the Pegasus, wordmark, monogram, university identifiers, unit identifiers or regional identifiers
- Cannot be used for personal business

SOCIAL MEDIA

BEST PRACTICES*BRANDING

As with any UCF communications piece, be sure to follow the graphic standards established for the UCF logo and associated elements. UCF does not have logos specific to social media. Remember: Legal use of UCF logos and trademarks apply to social media accounts as well. All trademarks, service marks and logos are the property of UCF.

Fig. 18 Social Media Avatar

ETIQUETTE*Be careful.

Double-check spelling, grammar and punctuation before posting.

Social media is social.

Engage your audience with questions, polls and ways to inspire participation.

Practice due diligence.

If you have doubts about whether it is appropriate to write about or post content on certain subjects, ask your supervisor and/or get a second opinion before you post.

Post wisely.

Do not include political comments or comments on social issues, except in support of positions UCF has already taken.

Don't disclose.

Do not post confidential information about UCF, students, alumni, faculty or employees.

MANAGEMENT*Identify leaders.

Social profiles should have a manager and a back-up administrator who record passwords and content calendars. They should set a posting protocol for your department, group or organization.

Have a plan.

A social media strategy along with an editorial calendar are necessary to create consistent content and maximize your efforts. Develop a regular posting schedule, at least a few times a week, to ensure content is fresh and the page does not become stagnant.

Know the rules.

Be familiar with the terms and conditions of the social platforms and networks on which you participate. And pay attention to updates.

Stay relevant.

Stay abreast of trends and holidays/observances that you could create content around, connecting back to your college, campus department or organization.

TRANSPARENCY

Be consistent.

You shouldn't need to update your avatar image once it's set. A static, brand-related avatar image for your college, campus department, or organization profile page is essential in building trust with your audience.

Pay attention.

Respond in a timely fashion to comments and messages.

Be human.

Connect when commenting. Provide an email address or phone number to help with follow-up communication.

THINGS TO AVOID

Arguments.

Your reputation — and UCF's — is best served when you remain above the fray. The tone of your social profile should reflect your college, department, or organization's spirit with respectful professionalism.

Using copyrighted content.

Content that is shared on social media must be original content, that includes music, video clips, audio clips, photography, graphic design, and more. Purchase the appropriate license for use or attribute credit where necessary.

The next shiny thing.

Jumping onto each new social platform without considering uses, potential impact, and resources necessary to sustain community engagement.

HELPFUL BRAND ASSETS FOR SOCIAL MEDIA

COPYWRITING

To connect with our audiences, we must tell stories that are authentic, accurate and reflect the distinctive brand DNA of UCF.

Our brand lexicon — bold, modern, youthful, entrepreneurial and energetic — captures our collective essence. These aren't simply words — they're our brand language and should be used whenever possible.

Where natural and appropriate, copy should include these terms:

At UCF, we unleash potential to positively change the world. It's what enables us to make a difference by:

- Championing student success.
- Driving discovery.
- Fostering inclusion.
- Innovating solutions.
- Fueling our economy.
- Powering partnerships.

BEST PRACTICES

Consider your audience.

Communicating with students is far different from communicating with donors. Customize your voice and tone based on the reader and your channel.

Write with economy.

Communicating a message clearly requires brevity and simplicity. Edit yourself ruthlessly to omit every unnecessary word. Be brief. Be bright. Be done.

Use an active voice.

Action verbs make content more interesting and will carry your reader through your story more successfully.

Make it personal.

Using first- and second-person voice will create a strong connection with the reader.

Keep it conversational.

Write as if you were talking with a friend. Never “write down” to an audience.

Avoid big words.

You can engage your audience more effectively using everyday words that everyone can understand. If your reader has to reach for a dictionary, you’ve lost them.

Employ the UCF voice.

We are modern, bold, youthful, entrepreneurial and energetic. The tone of our content should be, too.

Read your copy out loud.

If it doesn’t sound right, it probably isn’t.

THINGS TO AVOID

Jargon.

Specialized language and obscure terminology might make perfect sense to you, but may confuse your reader. Using simple vocabulary ensures a clear message that everyone can understand.

A passive voice.

Using passive verbs will make your content less conversational and lose the attention of your audience.

An institutional tone.

Try to explain complex ideas with analogies, examples, illustrations, infographics or images.

Overuse of exclamation points.

They’re useful! But too many are gratuitous! Seriously, try not to use them in headings or more than once per page.

UCF is moving forward in alignment with the strategic plan “Unleashing Potential.” That plan can be found here. Facts about the university (diplomas conferred, dates, size) can be found here.

NORTH STAR STATEMENT

The Division of Student Success and Well-Being fosters a holistic and engaged educational experience that empowers every student to thrive. We prepare individuals to graduate on time and make meaningful contributions to their communities. Through personalized care, guided pathways, and data-informed decisions, we are dedicated to transforming aspirations into achievements.

COMMON SSWB TERMS

Term	Meaning
Admitted and Accepted	Students are “admitted” or “offered admission” to UCF. they are not “accepted.”
The Division of Student Success and Well-Being	SSWB is appropriate after the name is spelled out the first time. “Well-Being” is always hyphenated.
Residence Hall	This is where students live, not a dorm.
“Reserve” a spot at orientation	Suggesting students “register” for orientation confuses the action with registering for classes.
UCF Downtown	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• It is UCF Downtown, the UCF Downtown campus, or the downtown campus, but not the Downtown Campus or DTC.</li><li>• UCF Downtown is a full-service campus and is not a regional or Direct Connect campus.</li></ul>

FREQUENTLY USED ACRONYMS

Acronyms should be spelled out the first time they’re used in a specific piece of copy (first reference), with the acronym in parenthesis adjacent to the word. E.g. UCF students are encouraged to broaden their learning outside the classroom using high-impact practices (HIP).

Acronym	Meaning
SSWB	Student Success &amp; Well-Being The Division of Student Success and Well-Being encompasses almost all student-serving units at UCF. The proper name includes Division and is capitalized. It was formed in 2022 by the merging of two separate units: Student Development and Enrollment Services (SDES) and Student Learning and Advising (SLAS). Neither SDES nor SLAS should be used except as a historical reference.
SDES	Student Development &amp; Enrollment Services The former division that merged with Student Learning and Advising to form SSWB.
HIPs	High-Impact Practices High-impact practices add real-world learning to student academics. Some examples include study abroad and undergraduate research.
SFA	Student Financial Aid The office that aids students with financial aid.
SOC	Student of Concern A student that exhibits concerning behaviors.
SCS	Student Care Services The office that assists students with various needs.

Acronym	Meaning
